

Saturday 4. October

Open Source Days
2008

| Time          | TRACK 1Sys Adm                                                                                                      | TRACK 2OS/Security/Kernel                                                                       | TRACK 3Embedded                                                          | TRACK 4Applications                                                                                    |
|---------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Auditorium    | AUD1, Ground floor                                                                                                      | AUD2, Ground floor                                                                                  | AUD3, 2nd floor                                                              | 2A12, 2nd floor                                                                                            |
| Chairmen      | John Gøtze                                                                                                              | Hanne Munkholm                                                                                      | Anders Søndergaard Jensen                                                    | Leif Lodahl                                                                                                |
| 09.00         | Welcome                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                     |                                                                              |                                                                                                            |
| 09.15 - 10.40 | KeynoteJan Wieck, AfiliastSlony-1 - A master to multiple slaves-replication system for PostgreSQL | KeynoteJordan K. Hubbard, AppleMacOSX: 8 years of Innovation and Open Source  |                                                                              |                                                                                                            |
| 10.45 - 11.45 | Magnus HaganderHidden gems of PostgreSQL                                                                     | Martin StrandbygaardOpenID and User Centric Identity                                     | Martin HanseneCOS: The Open Source Real Time Operating System     | Nikolaj Hald NielsenAmarok 2 - The world is your playlist                                       |
| 12.00 - 12.55 | Kasper LundV8: An open-source, high-performance JavaScript engine                                            | Martin K. PetersenData integrity protection in Linux                                     | Poul BondoProject Management of embedded Linux projects           | Robin Rowe &amp; Gabrielle PanteraCinpaint                                                      |
| 13.00 - 13.55 | Mads ToftumDevelopers guide to grumpy old Sysadmins                                                          | Bryan ØstergaardExherbo - rethinking a linux distribution                                | Sidsel JensenComputing beyond the keyboard, mouse and screen      | Peter Toft &amp; Kenneth GeisshirtEmacs on steroids - 25+ cool features of your favorite editor |
| 14.00 - 14.55 | Andreas EricssonBuilding successful enterprise network monitoring with Nagios                                | Jesper BrouerNetfilter: Making large iptables rulesets scale!                            | Mikael DichLIAB - Using Linux and Open Source as a business model | Björn LundellAttitudes to and acceptance of Open Document formats in the public sector          |
| 15.00 - 15.55 | Ralf Hildebrandt &amp; Patrick Koetteramavisd-new - controlling mail message flow by content analysis        | naxxatoeThe end of the internet - Self replicating malware on home routers               | Mikkel HøghWhy use Drupal?                                        | John Smedley, Ingres EuropeIngres CAFÉ                                                          |
| 16.00 - 16.55 |                                                                                                                         | Stephen Hemminger, VyattaAn attempt at herding cats, or making Linux routing accessible. | Christian SejersenMobile Firefox                                  | Louis Suarez-PottsWhy Formats Matter                                                            |
| 17.00 - 18.30 | Dinner                                                                                                           |                                                                                                     |                                                                              |                                                                                                            |
| 18.30 -       | KeynoteDaniel V. KleinSecurity As If Your Life Depended On It (because it might!)                 |                                                                                                     |                                                                              |                                                                                                            |